NORFOLK'S GUESTS.

HONORS TO THE CITIZENS OF THE OLD NORTH STATE.

A Gala Day in the Old Revolutionary Town---What the Visitors Saw and Experienced.

Special Telegram to the News.

NORFOLK, August 6.—That the North Carolinians would be well received by the Norfolk people was a foregone conclusion in the minds of the excursionists, but it was scarcely expected that the arrangements for the comfort of the visitors would be so thorough.

The committee on quarters, had, in anticipation of a large number of visitors, been busy for several weeks making arrangements for them. All of the hotel proprietors as well as the boarding-house keepers had co-operated with them zealously. Last night the scenes were of a novel character. After supper many of the visitors either called on friends or strolled about the city, taking a hasty glance at what the night scenes afforded. At the different hotels a novel sight was presented. The floors of the parlors and other public rooms were covered with mattresses upon which the tired travelers stretched themselves to gain strength for the morrow.

As stated last night, the number of strangers present was estimated at about two thousand, although many were inclined to add two hundred more to the amount. There are quite a number of ladies among the excurtionists, and this by no means detracts from the pleasure of the occasion.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the visitors assembled at the warehouse of the Norfolk & Boston Wharf and Warehouse Company, where they were formally welcomed to the city by the Mayor, John S. Tucker, Esq., and immediately afterward sat down to a banquet spread for two thousand people. After heartily satisfying themselves with the viands, various toasts were proposed, which were responded to in a graceful and appropriate manner by the Hon. John Goode, Mayor Tucker, Colonel L. D. Starke, Charles Sharp, Esq., W. H. C. Ellis, Esq., Judge Louis Hilliard and others.

After these exercises the guests embarked on the steamers Florida and Banks for Fortress Monroe, where they will remain and witness the dress parade, and then re-embark for a ride to the Capes.

The business men of Norfolk have done everything in their power to add to the enjoyment of the excursionists, and no doubt their efforts in this direction will be crowned with such success that pleasant recollections of this visit will attend those who were so fortunate as to be present. L.

The Bankers in Convention.

SARATOGA, August 6.—The convention of the American Bankers' Association assembled in the town hall. In the absence of President Mitchell, first Vice-President J. D. Vermilye, of New York, presided. James Buell, Secretary, of New York, read his annual report, and in the absence of the Treasurer also read his report, which showed a balance of $1,500 after liquidating all expenses of the present convention. Mr. Camp, of Milwaukee, read an interesting paper on the history of western banking.

THE KENTUCKY ELECTION.

The Democrats Still in the Ascendancy---Blackburn Elected.

LOUISVILLE, August 6.—Unofficial but definite returns from about fifty counties show a falling off of about one-third in the aggregate vote, but about the usual Democratic majority. The Republicans have made legislative gains, but the General Assembly that two years ago was one hundred and fourteen Democratic on joint ballot, continues Democratic over one hundred. Blackburn's majority for Governor is variously estimated at from 20,000 to 40,000. The vote recommending a call for a Constitutional Convention, though supported by both parties, has undoubtedly failed of the required constitutional majority. The election was unusually quiet all over the State, no serious difficulty being reported. The Greenbackers have certainly elected two members of the lower house of the Legislature, but their aggregate vote is insignificant. In this county, Blackburn gets 6,961; Evans 4,049. At the last gubernatorial race McCrary (Dem.) received 9,706 and Harlan (Rep.) 7,160.

Remission of the Penalty.

WASHINGTON, August 6.—The Secretary of the Treasury has approved of the opinion of the Solicitor of the Treasury and decided to remit all fines and penalties incurred by the vessels of Memphis and St. Louis Packet Company by carrying an access of passengers during the exodus of the colored people from the States of Mississippi and Louisiana.

The Fever Spreading.

MEMPHIS, August 6.—Eleven new cases of fever were reported this morning. Five white and six colored. Among the former are W. B. Richardt, E. D. Haines and Mrs. Leake. One death has occurred since last night, Elizabeth Fleetch, at 234 South street. City remains remarkably quiet but one arrest having been made during the past twenty-four hours. Rev. Father Fahar, Ed. Moon, and wife of Chief of Police Athey continue to improve. The weather is clear and warm.

The Fire Record.

ORILLIA, Ont., August 6.—A disastrous fire occurred here last night, destroying more than twenty buildings in the very heart of the town, and causing a loss of property to the amount of $100,000.

Still Holding Out.

READING, Pa., August 6.—The Reading Hardware Company recently made a proposition to one hundred and four men to increase their pay and give them a price list. The proposition was considered at a meeting of the men last evening and was unanimously refused. They struck for an advance of 25 per cent. and the price list and refused to accept less. They are receiving help from moulders at other places.

Maryland Democratic Convention.

BALTIMORE, August 6.—The Democratic State Convention, to nominate candidates for Governor, Comptroller, Attorney-General and Clerk of Court of Appeals, assembles in this city tomorrow. There is no opposition to Hon. William F. Hamilton, of Washington county, as party candidate for Governor, and he will probably be nominated by acclamation. Mr. Hamilton was United States Senator from this State, his term expiring in 1875. For Comptroller and Attorney-General, the present incumbents will be re-nominated.

Saratoga Races.

SARATOGA, August 6.—First race, three-quarters mile, Lady Middleton won easily; Hippograph second; Observanda third. Time, 1:17½.

Prussian Magnanimity.

PARIS, August 6.—It is understood that the German Government has offered no impediment to the inhabitants of Metz who wished to attend the fetes at Nancy on the occasion of the unveiling of the statute of the late M. Thiers. The French Government, to avoid any semblance of fomenting agitation on the frontier, will not be represented at the forthcoming demonstration in honor of the late M. Thiers at Belfort.

Aquatics.

DETROIT, August 6.—At a meeting of the Detroit River Navy, last night, it was decided to hold, open to all, an amateur regatta at this city, August 27th and 28th. Prizes valued at from $1,200 to $1,500 will be given. The Shoewaecamettes, Wahwahsum, Wyandotte and other crews will probably participate in the four-oared race.

French Crops.

PARIS, August 6.—Official reports state that grain in the south of France has been harvested in excellent condition, and that in the northwest a good average crop may be expected.

A Bankrupt Austrian Countess.

London Telegraph, July 21.

To what strange straits the ups and downs of fortune sometimes reduce persons of high rank and illustrious birth is curiously exemplified in a list of bankruptcy announcements recently published in the official Law Gazette of Vienna. The Landesgericht of the Austrian capital advertises a first meeting of creditors in the insolvency case of "the Lady Pauline, Countess of Baudissin, manufacturer of Alpine flowers, 21 Sarohgasse, Vienna." The Counts of Baudissin belong to the ancient nobility of Germany, and were once wealthy peers of the Holy Roman Empire. Count Adalbert de Baudissin, the late husband of the insolvent Countess Pauline, was an officer in the Austrian army, and served in the Schleswig-Holstein campaign. He died eight years ago in extremely reduced circumstances, and his widow endeavored to turn her talent for imitating the flora of the Alps, doubtless originally cultivated by her for her amusement, to account, but without success. This unfortunate lady is a Countess von Gerstof by birth, and a Canoness of the exalted German Order decorated with the Cross of Mary. It is a startling illustration of the vicissitudes of human affairs that so distinguished a person age, an aristocrat alike by birth and matrimonial alliance, should be compelled to sell artificial flowers for a living and eventually to take the benefit of the act.

A Flash of Lightning.

Charleston News and Courier, 5th.

PINEOPOLIS, August 1.—During a rainfall at the village of Pineopolis, St. John's Berkley Parish, on Wednesday evening last, there was a single flash of lightning that struck in one yard, in a space of about fifty feet square, four large pine trees and the kitchen, and affected all the persons on the premises more or less severely. One of the members of the family, who was in the yard about ten feet from the kitchen, was knocked down and remained insensible for some time. Another pine tree, in a lot about one hundred yards off, was struck, and a young man, at least two hundred yards from any tree struck, was stunned severely. A lad, at about one hundred yards distant, had his foot burnt, and another person, at about the same distance off, who was in his stable unharnessing his horse, had a slight burning of the back of his hand, and the horse was also affected. Singular to relate it was the only flash of lightning that occurred during the rain. Just afterward the smell of sulphur in the vicinity was very strong, and the person most severely affected gave out from his body for two days after a very perceptible odor of sulphur. In an area of three hundred yards square, every person was more or less affected.

Carrying the War into Africa.

An important case has been decided at Ellenville, N. Y., which is of great interest to fathers who have marriageable girls. A well-to-do farmer, named Blumenauer, the possessor of two handsome daughters, was sued by John Nicholas for the services of his horses, which had been used in taking the girls out riding. It is true that the plaintiff, Nicholas, was the one who took them out, but his claim sets forth that the time and horseflesh spent upon the fair Blumenauer was in consideration of a tacit bargain that he was to have one of the girls for a wife. When, therefore, she suddenly, after the manner of her sex, took up with somebody else, John Nicholas considered himself swindled, and brought suit to recover. The trial proved a short but, in the language of the Ellenville Journal, a sweet one, being waged, so we are informed, "with that persistency, vigor of expression and eloquence characteristic of the Ellenville bar." Judgment was given, we are pleased to say, for the defendant. The precedent is a valuable one. Had the plaintiff recovered, the life of an American father with daughters must have become a burden. What endless litigation over pomatum, bookmarks, photographs, cream caramels, Lubin's Extract and dog-collars must have ensued. The birth of a girl into the family must have come to be an event, sooner or later, that could be signalized in no better way than by buying a new set of the Revised Statutes.

Cholera in the British Army.

Late details have been received from Calcutta respecting the fearful mortality among the British troops from cholera. The disease broke out in a most virulent form and raged without intermission for several days, and the medical staff found itself quite inadequate to cope with it. In some instances the progress was so rapid that soldiers died before the surgeons could reach them. Men and officers alike perished, although some officers recovered, while no private soldiers taken with the disease survived. This was attributed to the greater hardships endured by the privates during the campaign which had so enfeebled their constitutions as to make them fall easy victims to the pestilence. Good order and discipline was preserved to a remarkable extent. The full official mortality returns of the whole campaign have not been received, but an approximate return gives the following figures: Lives lost during the advance in action, 98; drowned and killed by accidents, 41; died of wounds and disease before the return march began, 80; died of cholera and other diseases on the return march, 420; total, 639.

NEWS FROM THE NORTH.

INTERESTING MATTER THROUGH THE LATE MAIL.

The Cincinnati Election Troubles---A Wild Prediction---Counterfeiters Arrested---Double Tragedy.

Washington Post, 6th.

At the meeting of the Congressional investigating committee at Cincinnati yesterday it was decided that the evidence of the memorialists should close to-day. In the cross-examination Mr. Hyman stated that Edwards, of Covington, had promised to furnish thirteen Kentuckians who would swear that they voted the Democratic ticket in this city if he were paid $100. Samuel McNamara stated that he belonged to a club organized to make money. Butterworth paid $40, and they would not have voted for him if he had not paid them.

The memorialists concluded at noon taking the evidence before the Congressional investigating committee, and the afternoon was spent in discussing whether or not the election of 1876 should be inquired into in order that a comparison between the two elections might be made and the necessarily evil effects of supervisors and marshals law be shown. It was decided, however, that they should not go back of the election of 1876, on the grounds that the resolution of Congress did not authorize them to do so.

A WILD PREDICTION.

Ex-Governor Charles Dennison, of Ohio, in an interview with a New York Graphic reporter, stated that the prospects in Ohio for the Republicans were favorable, and that the result was of National importance, as defeat meant forcible Democratic success in 1880. He added: "With a Democratic President in the White House, I predict that the Supreme Court, now composed of seven Republicans and two Democrats, would be increased by the appointment of seven additional Democratic judges, a majority would then decide the Fourteenth amendment unconstitutional, and that it had never been properly ratified because of the withdrawal of Ohio's consent by the Democratic legislature of 1868. That withdrawal is still filed in Washington for use when the time for action arrives. If repealed it would deprive the colored people of all their rights as citizens, and remove the only obstruction to the payment of the rebel claims and rebel pensions." The South would insist that "if the debts of the United States are paid, the debts of the Confederacy should be paid also." They would also demand payment for emancipated slaves. The financial question he considered secondary.

SECRETARY SHERMAN'S RETURN.

Secretary Sherman returned to Washington yesterday morning, and was at his desk in the Treasury Department during the early part of the day. He had little to say to callers outside of a few of the politicians from Louisiana. There was the usual Tuesday evening meeting, when were discussed the subject of extra tents for the Memphis yellow fever sufferers, General Miles' reconnoisance of the whereabout of Sitting Bull, and Secretary Sherman's views about the Republican prospects in the Maine campaign.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Baltimore Sun, 6th.

About one o'clock yesterday afternoon a shocking double tragedy occurred at the foundry of Schalto, Cassmen & Senn, Chicago, Senn, the junior partner, had a dispute last night with the foreman of the foundry, Conrad Engleman, charging the latter with spoiling the casting of an ornamental pillar. To-day the quarrel was resumed. Engleman said he could quit. Senn told him to do so, and ordered the book-keeper to pay him off, and reiterating the charge about the casting. Englemann called him a liar, when Senn rushed into the private office for his revolver, and sent a ball into Engleman's brain from which he died in about an hour. Senn then snapped the pistol at his own head, but it did not go off, and before he could make a second attempt to shoot himself Mr. Schalto, the senior member of the firm, knocked the weapon out of his hand. Senn then went into the private office, drew a pocket-knife and cut his throat from ear to ear, dying instantly. Mr. Senn was a well-to-do citizen and well liked, except for his hot temper. He was forty-five years of age, and leaves a wife and five children. Engleman was an industrious young man, twenty-six years old, and leaves a wife and child. There was great excitement in the neighborhood of the tragedy, and large crowds collected around the office in which the bodies lay in pools of blood.

COUNTERFEITERS ARRESTED.

It is learned that an arrest was made late last night, by detectives Kealey and King of a counterfeiter of Brazilian notes manufactured for circulation in South American ports. All the presses, a large quantity of bank-note paper, and a still larger quantity of counterfeit money, were seized, and are now in the hands of the police. All information about the case is refused by the police. The arrests were made on behalf of the Brazilian consul. The forgeries were on Brazilian notes. The names of the persons arrested are Francisco Antonio Reyenguiz Sanabris, aged thirty-one, a Cuban, and Benicio Beresacqua, aged twenty-seven, born in Brazil. They were arrested on complaint of A. G. Goodall, president of the American Bank Note Co., who acted on behalf of the Brazilian government. Three other men were arrested this afternoon for complicity. One was to have sailed for Rio Janeiro to-day with the bogus notes of the denomination of twenty milreis, in his possession.

SENATOR WHYTE IN COURT.

Honorable William Pinckney Whyte appeared in the City court yesterday as counsel for Getz New, who was arrested yesterday on an Ohio requisition charging false pretences, in passing a worthless draft for $1,900 on the Iron Bank of Jackson, Ohio, petitioner for release from custody on a writ of habeas corpus. Senator Whyte claimed that the requisition papers were defective and without date, as Governor Carroll's clerk had written "the first day of Ohio," instead of "the first day of August," on the warrants. After lengthy arguments, the judge held that the want of date was fatal, and discharged the petitioner. At the time the writ was issued an Ohio officer was about leaving the city with the accused in custody.

THE BOSTON FRIENDS OF LO.

A meeting, presided over by Mayor Price was held yesterday, to take into consideration the treatment of the Ponca Indians. The mayor made an address, and resolutions were passed declaring that as Indians have the same rights as white men, these rights should be determined by the Supreme court at Washington, and that a committee of ten be appointed to collect $4,000 to further the purpose. Speeches were made also by Wendell Phillips, E. H. Gibbs, of Omaha, and others.

VERY SMART THIEVES.

How They Manage to Get Rid of Their Plunder.

Washington Post, 5th.

The Post recently contained an article describing how the United States coupon bonds, stolen from the Manhattan bank of New York, had been so skillfully altered as to escape detection, even by Treasury officials. The numbers were changed, and the bonds negotiated, thus demonstrating that burglars and cracksmen are enabled to command the very best skill of the engraver's art. Within the past two or three days an instance of still greater ingenuity on the part of thieves has been developed. This time it is a registered United States bond which has been altered and negotiated. Heretofore the registered bonds have been regarded as valueless plunder, but, at least, in one case the thief made one profitable. Each of these bonds has written on its face the name of the owner and the same name, together with the number of the bond, is registered in books at the Treasury. The interest is payable only to the registered owner, and when redeemable the value of the bond can only be paid to that person, except where a transfer or power of attorney to collect is made before a regular notary public, and it is required at the same time that the owner shall be identified. This system, it was believed, furnished adequate protection, not only to the owners of bonds, but to the public generally, and it has so proved until now. The other day a registered bond of $1,000, No. 43,831, in the name of George Munn, reached the Treasury for redemption, having been negotiated by a Boston bank, through the Union Trust Company of New York. The Treasury officials turned to the record and discovered that the name of George Munn was not contained therein, and also that the bond of that number was registered in a different name. This sufficed to stop payment, and the suspicious bond was sent to Professor Casilear, of the bureau of engraving and printing, for examination. He found that the name originally written upon the bond had been neatly washed out, and that of Munn substituted; also that the number had been changed from 13,831 to 43,831. With these facts before them the Treasury officials identified the bond as one that had been stolen from a party in New York. The loser had notified the department of his loss, and had filed a caveat against its payment or redemption. In this case the owner of the bond is safe and the loss falls on the Boston bank which received it. It is believed, since this experience, by the Treasury officials that all the registered bonds which were stolen from the Manhattan bank have been altered and negotiated, and that they will come in for redemption in time.

Fate.

There were lamps and the odor of blossoms,
The whirl of the waltz, and the beat
Of instruments tuned to feet dancing;
There were vows and responses sweet;
And into the chaos of color
My heart went seeking a face
That floated amid the gay dancers
Like a rose blown free in its grace.

A glimpse of gold tresses uncoiling,
A glimpse of stars that were eyes;
A sigh from a rose mouth soft parted,
A smile sweet with soft melodies;
And my heart whirled round with the waltzers,
And misty the lamps paled, and far
The music receded, like straining
Of wave o'er an ocean's gray bar.

"You are sad," laughed a voice. "Come, be merry.
Gay life is fleeting at best;
If you carry a heart in your bosom,
Get rid of it, friend, with a zest."
But ever the music moaned by me,
And ever the face floated fair,
And ever I knew that a siren
Had lured me to follow fore'er.

The lamps went out with the morning,
The warm odors drifted away;
The music was hushed, and the dancers
In dreams of its melody lay;
But e'er, like a beautiful phantom,
The face, in my path, moved in flight,
And ever I follow its circling
From dawn till the dusk of the night.

And subtly it 'scapes from my grasping,
Like a dream a soul woos to stay;
And ever I feel, in mad clasping,
A shadow, thin, bloodless and gray;
Till I cry, in despair: O face fairest,
Grown out like a rose, from a glance,
Let me hold thee but once to my bosom,
And death may whirl wild in his dance!

The Swallow.

The swallow, borne on breath of spring
(Arbutus breath and violet),
Did touch me with his wanton wing—
A wing with dew delightsome wet—
And straight I soared from earthly care,
A winged soul in spring time's air.

But soft! from earth called wooing bird,
From flower buds blooming, and from leaves;
His bubbling music blithe I heard,
As brook through fluted glass in-weaves;
And back to earth my soul took wing
Where, like the swallow, it might sing.

They got the Inside Track.

Washington Post.

It is not charged, and we do not suppose, that the soldier is thus slighted because he went to the front. We have no idea that the fact of a man's having served faithfully in the Union army is counted to his discredit. But the men who staid at home and made money during the war, and who then run the political machine, got the inside track, have kept it, and still keep it.

"The People's Paper."

The Concord People's Paper.

If there were nothing in a name, we would not have any. We want the name of our paper to indicate what it is; and as we intend to do all we can to make it "the people's paper," we now propose to call it by that name.

Don't Turn on the Lights.

For the News.

Don't turn the lights
'Twill be too bright,
We are for any other;
Don't turn the lights
For it might hurt
The prospects of the brother;
Don't turn the lights
You'll see some flights,
'Twill show an ugly case;
Don't turn the lights
It is not right
'Till they secure the place.
The lights not on and darkness reigns,
Truth, justice, reason, are in vain;
As now, it is, as ever been,
Where factions rule the pesce must end,
Our past we'll bear tho' it be hard.

LYNCHING A MORMON.

HISTORY OF THE RISE OF MORMONISM IN GEORGIA.

Origin of the Trouble---A Community Scarcely Discussed of by the Outside World.

Atlanta Constitution, 5th.

The killing of Joseph Standing, the young Mormon elder in north Georgia, has created discussion all over the country. The interest that it has drawn in the section in which he was killed has brought out some interesting facts concerning the progress made by the Mormons there. Let us premise what we have to say by remarking that no one can tell why the Mormons have devoted so much time to the counties of Cherokee, Georgia, in which they have been working so long. They are not to be found elsewhere, but they seem to be determined upon captivating the section spoken of. The Mormons sent their first emissary into Georgia about seven years ago. This man was named Morgan, and is described as an extraordinary person. He was brave, aggressive, shifty and eloquent. He begged no quarter and made no concessions, but went ahead preaching his faith as one inspired. Nothing could daunt him, and very few men could argue with him. He was thoroughly prepared upon all points of his faith, and he argued it everywhere. As might be expected, he made converts. At first there were only one or two, but he gradually brought more over, until he had them scattered over Walker and the adjoining counties pretty freely. Then he summoned new elders who came out to aid him. Since then fully one dozen have been sent into this section. They were all under the direction of Elder Morgan, who was after awhile made "Superintendent of Missions in the South."

The ground most closely occupied by these proselyting elders was Chattooga county (the half this side of the mountains), Walker county, Catoosa, Whitfield. They have made many converts in these counties, and have established what they call flocks in many neighborhoods. Their policy is not, as has been supposed, to take all their converts to Utah. The truth is, they take only a small proportion of them. It is probable that one hundred and fifty or two hundred will cover all that they have sent out from north Georgia. These people were mostly poor and shiftless folks, and generally past middle age. One or two pretty girls are known to have gone, but the most of the women were old and ugly and not liable to be pressed into polygamic relations. Many husbands and wives went, the wives insisting that as the Mormons based their polygamic theory upon the fact that Rachael selected new wives for Jacob, they would be allowed to select new wives for their husbands, whenever, if ever, like Rachael, they deemed it necessary.

But the elders made many converts that still live in Georgia. These are persons who are Mormons in everything, save that they do not attempt to practice under Georgia laws the polygamic part of their creed. They believe in the book of Mormon—in the divine inspiration of Joe Smith—and in all theory and teaching of the Mormon church. They have been baptized by the elders and are known as "saints." Their houses are used as headquarters. These native Mormons are scattered throughout the various counties, in what exact numbers it is hard to tell. They are usually quiet, illiterate people of small means, but there are some few families of property and intelligence, which have embraced this faith. When they once become converted they are never reclaimed. They have even organized a conference of the several congregations of native converts. Joseph Standing was the presiding elder of this conference, and was on his way to Rome to attend a conference meeting when he was killed. In a talk with Senators Hawkins, of Chattooga, and Clements, of Walker, they both expressed the belief that the cause was progressing and growing stronger. "They are gradually getting new converts," said Mr. Hawkins, "and I hear they never lose a single one."

We learn that there has never been any trouble from mob-law throughout the circuit generally. The elders have preached in the court houses of probably every county, have had good audiences and have never been disturbed. They preached, we believe once or twice in the city hall or court house at Rome. They have never been annoyed or threatened, that we can hear of, except at Varnells station. These elders have been singularly circumspect and careful. They have not preached licentious doctrines at all, but have kept the polygamic feature of their religion in the background. Of course there has been a great deal of general scandal about the morality of these elders, but we could find no man who believed it. Said one gentleman: "I do not know of a single case where they have been guilty of immoral practices, even in the families of their 'saints.'" They seem to be bent upon their work of proselyting and upon nothing else. To this they devote all their energies and their lives.

Standing was a young man of twenty-three years of age, but had great courage and ability. If he had lived he would have risen to great prominence in his church. He was buried in Salt Lake City on Sunday with impressive ceremonies.

We learn that the field in north Georgia will not be abandoned, but will be canvassed with greater vigor than ever. Elder Morgan himself is coming out, and the blood of Standing will but incite these monstrous fanatics to still greater exertions.

Efforts are being made to capture the murderers, and if caught they will be prosecuted vigorously. We learn that there were personal reasons that led many of the attacking mob to try and drive Standing out of Varnells. He had endangered the peace and integrity of many homes, and he was attacked in defense of these homes.

CARTHAGE, August 4.—The weather has faired off and the days are nice and warm. Trade is tolerably good for this time of the year, and flour is coming in quite free.

This is Superior Court week, but up to the present writing Judge Seymour has not arrived. The following lawyers have arrived up to this time: Colonel Neil McRay, M. S. Robbins, Colonel J. W. Hinsdale and Mr. Murchison. Our resident lawyers, Solicitor T. D. McIvy and J. A. Worthy are also on hand.

Religious matters stand about as usual. The Rev. Mr. McIver, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in this place, preached a very good sermon yesterday, and a large congregation was attracted by its previous announcement. W.

WAKE.

APEX, August 5.—Apex is being rapidly populated. Four arrivals during the last forty-eight hours. Some of the parties seem quite happy while others look rather disappointed. Yet there is one reconciled soul among them, who says he is not much disappointed, for he was sure that it would be a girl or a boy.

SENTINEL.

ORANGE.

DURHAM, August 6.—Workmen are tearing away the plank fence that extends from Blacknall's drug store to Markham's corner, preparatory to the erection of a row of brick stores by Messrs. Blackwell & Company. This firm have also commenced work on their factory addition, which, when completed, will more than double the capacity of this already the largest smoking tobacco factory on the continent. We note this morning other improvements, the most important of which are the new brick warehouse built and to be occupied by Captain E. J. Parish, present proprietor of the Durham. This is a mammoth concern, and a thing of convenience and beauty and reflects credit on the town as well as its owner.

H. A. Reams, proprietor of Reams' warehouse, will soon complete an addition to his house, which will double its present size. A. W. Sears has about finished a commodious livery stable. W. T. Blackwell & Company have erected a large warehouse for storage of tobacco. J. K. Umstead & Company, J. M. Smith, John Smith, Messrs. Pearce & Goodson, Messrs. Tucket & Billings have all about finished very roomy and pretty houses in which to handle tobacco.

W. Mohsberg, one of our very enterprising merchants, has moved into his new brick store and looks like a city merchant. All these improvements have recently taken place on Main street. There are of course numerous others going on in every part of the town, in the way of private residences, but we can not keep up with them and do not deem it worth the while to take notice of them in this letter.

Last night the Durham Light Infantry had a very enthusiastic meeting to elect officers and transact other business of importance. The band was present with their new silver instruments to lend life and animation to the occasion. All the old officers were re-elected and appointments stood the same; speeches were called for from several, who responded briefly. Sergeant Webb returned thanks to the officers, the band and that portion of the citizens who had helped to keep up, or rather get up the organization for their untiring zeal and energy in their successful work, and in a few humorous remarks proved to the young men of the town that the Durham Light Infantry was a grand savings bank. Mr. Moring, the secretary, made a good little speech, as also did Captain J. N. Link, captain of the band, and several others, the whole concluding with an invitation from Mr. E. T. Gill to the Company and the band to repair to his place of business and take refreshments. The ladies will soon give an entertainment, the proceeds to go toward getting up a flag for the Company.

Yesterday three very bad characters, two men and a woman, were sent to jail at Hillsboro for stealing goods from the store of Messrs. Hunt & Hunt.

Breaks of tobacco in all the warehouses very good and prices keep up very well.

A Man Who Wants to Know.

New York Tribune, 5th.

Some of the correspondents who write to the Treasury Department for information cause unnecessary trouble by their verbosity. Others mix matters so that the officials whom they address are troubled to make out what they want to get at. A third and numerous class ask questions so absurd that the writers ought to be ashamed of the ignorance their letters betray. Mr. George Smith, who writes from "pyburns bluff, po. Cardin, county tennessee," evidently belongs to neither of these classes. He seems to know exactly what he wants to know, and he approaches the matter in hand without circumlocution. He writes under date of July 12, 1879, as follows:

To the commishner internal revnoo Washington d c dere sur i hearn a man say thet you sed thet the reduckshun uv the tacks on terbacker wood redoose the revnoo this yere ten milyuns dolars now we hev to pay the same pryce for a plug terbacker we did before the reduckshun of the tacks and hoo gits the benefit uv the reduckshun is wot i would like to no for it aint us fellers as chaws shure yurs george smith.

The Commissioner is always glad to afford information about the affairs of his bureau when he can do so; but he is not exactly sure what has become of the uncollected "tacks" on "terbacker," and is hesitating about the reply to Mr. Smith's inquiry.

A Remarkable Sunday Service.

Washington Star, 4th.

In front of the Ocean Hotel at Long Branch, at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the Rev. William Corbett, the Methodist Episcopal minister who attended the morning service in Ocean Grove, had arranged to preach to the guests and Sunday excursionists at the Branch at that hour. After the singing of "Old Hundred" the Rev. Mr. Corbett offered prayer for the rich and the poor, the Jew and the Gentile," closing with the hope that "at the end of earthly life we may be swung over Jordan on the downy wing of an angel into everlasting bliss." The congregation then sang "All Hail the power of Jesus' name." The preacher then spoke from the text of Acts, chapter, v: 38 and 39 and part of the 30th verse. During the service the congregation continued to increase and paid respectful attention. The service closed with prayer and benediction about 6, o'clock, p. m.

AT THE SPRINGS.

A GOODLY COMPANY IN SEARCH OF HEALTH.

The Improvements to be Made---A Valuable Servant---North Carolinians Rusticating There.

BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS, Va., August 3.—The company this season at this well-known summer resort has been composed mainly of North Carolinians, although there are many pleasant people here from the remoter Southern States. About one hundred has been the average number of visitors since the middle of July, and I venture to say that at no watering place in the country can a more delightful company be found. Most of them are here

IN SEARCH OF HEALTH.

The inaccessibility of the place prevents many who leave home simply for a short respite from the heat and burden of daily life from coming here. If it were otherwise and the Springs were within easy reach, the patronage would probably exceed the accommodations. It would be a profitless task to write of the many wonderful cures that have occurred here this year, and attest the potent virtues of the water. It is but a recurrence of every previous year. In fact it is in rare that the water does not afford relief, and in most cases, particularly of dyspepsia and its accompanying evils of malarial complaints and of other bodily ills too numerous to mention, the water is an acknowledged specific.

EXCEPTIONAL CASES

The Springs are in the main well kept this season. The proprietor, Col. Goode, is a gentleman of rare accomplishments, a lawyer of distinction, urbane and courteous and universally

POPULAR WITH HIS GUESTS.

He is a living testimonial of the efficacy of Buffalo water. After vainly searching for relief at most of the Virginia watering-places he found health and renewed life at Buffalo Springs, and shortly thereafter purchased the property. He struck a veritable bonanza in spring No. 2, the now famous lithia water. The sales of this water for the past two years have aggregated about twenty thousand dollars per annum and are constantly increasing. It is now kept for sale in most of the large cities. Colonel Goode is he is a liberal advertiser, which is "greatly to his credit," and his success is partly attributable to its fact. Appreciating the wonderfully healing properties of the water, he at the same time had the sagacity to know that wide advertising was necessary for its full development.

A FIRM BELIEVER IN PRINTERS' INK;

I have said that the Springs are in the main well kept. In some particulars there is room for improvement. A well-appointed bath-house is needed; but I will not complain, as I understand it is the purpose of the proprietor to erect one before the next season and supply it with hot and cold water. Nor will I complain about the service, which is not first class, as improvement in that department is also to be speedily effected. There is a servant here however who deserves special mention. He is a namesake of and has been waiting upon the guests at Buffalo for over thirty years. George Washington is, in my opinion, the most accomplished waiter in the State and as good a chambermaid as the best of them. He is almost ubiquitous, and can be in more places and doing more things at the same time than any other negro in Virginia. Up from four in the morning until midnight he is always ready, prompt and unruffled. One would think that the constantly recurring yells for "George! George Washington!" from the row of cabins where masculinity dwells alone, would run him demented, but he survives the pressure peacefully and bids fair to serve the guests at Buffalo for many years to come. But I have made this letter long enough. I will merely add that, to any of your readers whose tastes are not altogether festive, but with charming company, I can recommend Buffalo Springs with its health-giving waters, as a summer resort par excellence. And it is one of the peculiarities of the place, that, with few exceptions, those who go there once, scarcely ever fail to go again.

WHO LIKE A QUIET PLACE

It may not be amiss to send you the names of some of the North Carolina guests who have been here during the past six months. Below is a partial list:

Mrs. General T. J. Jackson and daughter, Charlotte, N. C.
Colonel Thomas M. Holt and family, Haw River, N. C.
Colonel J. L. Brown and wife, Charlotte, N. C.

Cleopatra's Needle Again.

WASHINGTON, August 6.—The arrangements having been perfected for the formal transfer of the famed obelisk known as Cleopatra's Needle, which still stands upon the shores of the beautiful Bay of Alexandria, in Egypt, Lieutenant Commander Gorringe, of the United States navy, has been granted six months' leave of absence for the purpose of visiting Alexandria and constructing the appliances necessary to load the immense shaft and transport it to New York, to which city it was donated by the former Khedive, and a citizen having furnished the means to defray the expenses incident to its removal. The obelisk was formally presented by the Prime Minister of the late ruler, and no intention has been shown by the new ruling Prince to reverse that generous act. Formal information to that effect has been obtained. Lieutenant Commander Gorringe will leave at once for Philadelphia to examine several ships which have been offered for the purpose. He is in hopes of having the obelisk in New York during the month of December. It will be remembered that the companion obelisk was presented to the city of London. The present one stands, with base, several more feet in height, and is in an excellent state of preservation.

DAILY NEWS

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

THURSDAY, - - AUGUST 7, 1879.

SECRETARY SHERMAN says that he expects to begin to speak in Ohio about the last of August, and he feels confident that General Ewing will not be elected.

THE opinion seems to be quite unanimous that the National Board of Health is an institution of such a luxurious nature that we could well afford to be deprived of it.

IT may be safely predicted that no large amount of foreign capital will be invested in any inter-oceanic canal on this continent that is opposed by our government.

THE question arises, Is the National Board of Health preparing for work this year or the next? If for this year it is too late; if for next year it is a very little too early.

THE leading hard money Democrats of Northern Ohio declare that they are satisfied with the Ewing ticket, and thus another source of Republican consolation is dried up.

THAT preferred rates are given to American beef and grain on several of the English railways is a significant fact to Americans, and a troublesome fact to English farmers.

STAR catechism: "Mr. Sherman, will you squarely answer one question? Have you not shielded convicted thieves in the Treasury Department, and obstructed investigation at every turn?" Mr. Sherman replies: "Fellow citizens! we must redouble our energies to demolish the Solid South and save the party of great moral ideas."

THE Herald believes that it is possible, and would be the wisest policy, for Republicans to try and break up the "solid" South. It urges that the Republicans should try to find out what the South wants, and adds: "It is the custom of party organs and speakers just now, for instance, to assert that the solid South is for State Rights. This would not be a crime if it were true; but it happens to be the reverse of true."

THE Republicans were determined that Glover's report of his investigation into the frauds and embezzlements that have been going on in the Bureau of Printing and Engraving should not be printed. The New York Star was equally determined that it should be; so it published an extra edition containing Congressman Glover's full report, which made thirty-two columns of that paper. The Republicans are thunderstruck, although they profess to make light of it. It will be printed in pamphlet form, and will doubtless prove a most efficient campaign document.

THE Albany Argus is not at all frightened by the threatened Tammany bolt. On the contrary, it coolly remarks: "The Democratic party cannot surrender the principle of majority rule or tolerate any want of fealty to it. The enforcement of that rule is of more importance than the fortune of any candidate or the result of any Convention. The right of any Democrat to work for or against any candidate for nomination is manifest. The exercise of that right carries the duty of respecting and supporting any nomination duly made by the party. All of this is Democratic. Less than all of it is un-Democratic."

FRANCE'S prolific sources of revenue—wine and silk manufactures—says an exchange, are, for the time being, seriously threatened. Spain and Italy are now shipping enormous quantities of wine to that city of wines, Bordeaux, at the same time that they are supplying Brazil and other South American countries. Moreover, the native wines of this country are rapidly improving, so much so that it is no uncommon thing for the Delaware and New Jersey product to be sold for French. The silk industry also is seriously threatened by Italy and the United States, while there is a strong probability that China and Japan will soon appear not only as producers of the raw material, but as textile manufacturers.

A NEW YORK collector of coins informs a reporter that he is convinced that the practice of purchasing coins for clipping is increasing. In the course of his remarks he made the following statement:

In my business of collector I am often called upon to handle large amounts of silver coin, and it is a frequent thing to find a number of pieces in a $5 or $10 roll with one or more holes punched close to the edge. I opened a package of five-cent pieces this morning, and there were no less than twenty so punched in one or more places. I am convinced that the practice is increasing, and unless sharp measures are taken for its suppression there will very soon be no coin in circulation that is worth as much as it claims to be. Should not such coin be rejected by all as much as if it were counterfeit? It seems to me that is the only way to prevent their mutilation, as it would be a very difficult matter to trace the matter home.

The United States statutes provide a penalty of a fine not exceeding $2,000 and imprisonment of not more than two years for "every person who fraudulently, by any act, way or means, defaces, mutilates, impairs, diminishes, falsifies, scales or lightens the gold and silver coin. A damaged or punched silver coin loses its legal tender character."

IT was thought, remarks the Christian Intelligencer, that as soon as the Pocasset murderers came to their sober senses and realized the nature of the deed they had done, grief and remorse would take the place of delusion. But it seems that instead of coming to their senses as criminals in the eyes of God and man, they are both confirmed in their belief that they have acted in obedience to the voice of God. If tried and convicted of murder, they will claim to be the victims of persecution for conscience sake. It is a strange case and will no doubt afford an opportunity for the ventilation of some remarkable theories and speculation in morals and psychology. The Intelligencer further says:

How to deal with such offenders against the law is indeed a somewhat difficult problem. Certain it is that if not disposed of as criminals they should be shut up for life as the victims of cangerous insanity. They should never be permitted to have their children under their control again, or to enjoy a freedom in society which would give them the opportunity to offer another and a greater sacrifice of human life at the command of an imaginary divine voice. But why should they not be treated just as any other child murderers would be treated? They are not insane and do not pretend to be. They claim to have even more than the share of wisdom that falls to the lot of ordinary human beings. The best way to dispel such wicked delusions is to let the law take its course.

THE REPUBLICANS IN 1880.

It has been the order for some time past to canvass the chances of the Republicans in 1880 by referring to the possibility or probability of carrying this or that Northern State—the chances of carrying any of the Southern States having cunningly been left out. Perhaps they deemed it the wisest course to lull the Democratic leaders to a fancied sense of security and then by a "still hunt" carry three or four Southern States left unguarded through carelessness. From certain expressions let drop by the leading Radical journals of the East and West, the Republicans, it would seem, have determined to confine their efforts in the South next year to four States, to-wit, North Carolina, Florida, Missouri and Kentucky. The others will be wisely let alone and allowed to vote as they choose while the cry of "bulldozing" will be kept up. It may be that the Republicans gained a little in this State at the last election, but it is probably due to the fact that many Democrats were indifferent. As the Republicans claim that they still control the solid colored vote of this State, it is possible that they may cherish the fond and delusive hope that they will be able to carry North Carolina next year. However, the accomplishment of their desire is yet to be seen. In Florida, also, the Republicans have made several little spurts lately. The Democratic majority in 1878 was by no means as large as was expected, and the Republicans believe that if they are able to keep the party together they can accomplish something. The New Orleans Democrat furnishes probably the true reason for these boastful claims: "The stupid boast of the local Republican press is probably intended only to keep the party together in these States and secure all the Federal office for its leaders and chiefs."

Tilden and Ewing.

Robesonian.

We predict that in the event General Ewing is elected Governor of Ohio Tilden and Ewing will be the men.

Entered into the Investigation.

Brooklyn Eagle.

Since Mr. Hayes was put in possession of an office to which he was never elected, the people have entered into the investigation which the Commision refused to make. Their judgment on the facts brought to light through Congressional inquiries and in other ways, has yet to be rendered.

Where is He?

Boston Herald.

How many of the stalwart editors, who are howling because Mr. Jefferson Davis does not choose to give up the property left him by Mrs Dorsey, would readily relinquish their grip on a quarter of a million dollars? The newspaper man who would do such a thing—where is he?

A Fair Exchange.

Boston Herald.

Those people who hold the South responsible for the crazy utterances of the whoop-'em-up editor of the Okolona States may profitably ask themselves if the South should regard the mild Iowa stalwart of the Lemars sentinel as a representative of Republican opinion.

Obscuring the Questions.

Brooklyn Eagle.

Those who argue in the interests of centralism are in the habit of obscuring the questions and evading the true issues, as if with the purpose of getting voters into a fog and keeping them there.

The Only Question.

New York Graphic.

The only question remaining to be settled is as to whether the nominations shall seek the nominees, in which case the very best men will be chosen, or whether self-seeking politicians shall "capture" nominations without any general desire, on the part of disinterested Republicans, that they shall be chosen.

Hancock in Texas.

Houston Telegram.

There is not the slightest shadow of a doubt but General Hancock is the choice of the Texas Democracy for the nomination for President, and the Tilden men may put that in their pipes and smoke it. Texas can never forget the General's manly action at the close of the war, when he gave the State civil instead of military government.

One Issue to the Rear.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

We observe that the newspapers are beginning to kill Washington Irving's coachman. This is a promising sign that George Washington's body servant has finally and surely petered out.

Demoralizing Effects of Lynch Law.

New York Sun.

The Savannah News contains an article on "the demoralizing effects of Mormonism." It may be all very well for the News to warn its readers of the risks to be incurred in joining the Mormon religion, but just now the country is more interested in the demoralizing effects of lynch law, as illustrated in the recent murder of Standing, the Mormon elder, in Georgia.

Unwritten, but Applied.

Washington Post.

The unwritten, but applied rule of the civil service, since Mr. Hayes' great work of reform and purification began, has been: The official may regard the security of his tenure as in exact proportion to the promptness and liberality of his voluntary contributions for campaign purposes.

The North Carolina System.

Durham Recorder.

The question may serve the purposes of political movements. Its agitation may make or unmake Governors or members of Congress; it may be, furnish material for newspaper warfare, or be a prolific subject of controversy between towns or sections. In no case will it interest the people, unless out of the agitation, some measures are evolved which will bring about equalization of freight tariffs and reductions of passenger rates; and these to be brought about by calm discussion of facts rather than by angry assaults—for we are in the hands of the Philistines, and must make fair rather than foul weather for escape from existing difficulties.

THE INDEPENDENT VOTERS.

Their Belief is the Enforcement of Wholesome Laws, and will not be led by Professional Politicians.

Boston Herald.

The old parties tend to extreme positions. If this tendency continue, the national tickets presented by them next year will be unsatisfactory to a large class of voters who are not very firmly attached to either party, but are disposed to go for the best men, who believe in human progress, and are faithful to the constitution. Under the circumstances, these independent voters should organize and show their strength. It is almost certain that they will hold the balance of power in the next Presidential campaign. After the nominations are made they can do little—they can only select the ticket which is, on the whole, less unworthy than the other, or remain inactive. But, organized beforehand, they can exert an influence. Politicians have the highest respect for votes, and they respect little else. Show the politicians on both sides that there are half a million voters who do not believe in extreme views, and who will vote with that party which comes the nearer to the spirit of the constitution as amended, and the nominations will be influenced. The independent voters, who think for themselves, do not believe that it is necessary to continue the contest over questions settled by the war. They see the States in the Union, governing themselves, and the late slaves free. They are willing to leave the prejudices of race to time and natural laws. They believe in the enforcement of wholesome laws and the protection of every citizen in person and property. They believe in honest money, and fidelity to public and private obligations. They believe in a civil service based on fitness, in the education of the masses, and in civil and religious freedom. They do not believe that there is going to be another war between the sections, or that the smaller section is going to rule the larger. Why should not the independent voters organize, assemble and declare their views? The conference of independent voters in 1876 had no organization behind it, but it was one of the powerful influences which saved us from a national administration as objectionable as that of the previous term. By organization a much greater influence can be exerted. The politicians are only seeking selfish ends. Each man has his eye on his State, his district, or his town. A broader view is demanded. Half a million voters who do not want office, who want peace, order and progress, would send a tremor through the ranks of the politicians, and induce them to put up their best men on both sides. Then the independent voter could choose between the best possible, instead of the worst allowable.

FITZ JOHN PORTER'S CASE.

Moving for a Bill to Restore him to the Rank of Major General with Back Pay.

Army circles in Washington are excited over a new move that is soon to be made by General Fitz John Porter. The court of inquiry left his case to the de facto President to remedy the supposed injustice done him in the war. Mr. Hayes has taken no action and has made no suggestion to Congress since the adjournment of the court of inquiry. De Golyer Garfield, who was a member of the court martial that condemned Porter, has rallied all the Republican influence he could command to prevent Hayes from taking any action whatever. In this he has succeeded up to the present time. General Porter is not the man to wait idly for rehabilitation. General McClellan, Governor of New Jersey, is very anxious to have Porter righted, because his condemnation during the war was an indirect reflection upon himself. McClellan has had a conference with Senator Randolph, of New Jersey, chairman of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs, and Randolph has agreed to introduce, and press through his committee, a bill restoring Porter to his rank in the army as Major-General, with all his pay and allowances since his dismissal. This has been computed to amount to about $115,000. So prominent a Democrat as Governor McClellan will be able to do much for Porter, and it is now generally understood that the Democrats will make a political matter out of the case and restore Porter.

The question has arisen in Administration circles whether Congress has the power to do this, and both Evarts and Devens say there is no question about this. This question was not raised when it was proposed to make Shields a Brigadier-General, and would not now be sustained. General Sherman is quietly upon Porter's side, which adds to the certainty of his success. It is believed in army circles that General McDowell, Commander of the Department of the Pacific, will be put upon the retired list, and Porter given his place. In that case Porter would be placed over his old enemy, Pope, who could hardly consent to remain in that department under the changed order of things.

A National Farce.

Philadelphia Record, 5th.

The more familiar the public becomes with the doings of the National Board of Health, the more certain is the conviction that said body is little short of a public nuisance. Succeeding the outbreak of the epidemic at Memphis, the Board sent out some twenty inspectors, at ten dollars a day and expenses, to various parts of the country to report as to the sanitary condition of the localities visited. Two or three bulletins have been published, but the information contained therein resulted from the efforts of the Marine Hospital Bureau. A few days ago Hon. Casey Young, who, as chairman of the House Committee on Epidemic Diseases, brought the Board into existence, sought to have some preparations that were selling as disinfectants analyzed by the chemical experts that were supposed to be in the service of the Board. In this way the knowledge was gained that from the secretary of the Board down to the lowest clerk, none could be found competent to make the desired examination. And yet this secretary and his clerks draw from the Treasury over $30,000 per month in the way of fat salaries. Was there ever a worse farce? It would be instructive to learn to what extent the local authorities at Memphis neglected to clean up their city, owing to the sense of security prompted by the creation of a National Board of Health. When the matter was up for discussion at Washington we sought to show that all effective sanitary precautions must proceed from the local health boards, and the test of experience goes to confirm the soundness of the conclusion.

Centennial of the Siege of Savannah.

Morning News, 5th.

The committees appointed to receive the contributions of citizens to aid in entertaining the visiting military and for other purposes, are, we are glad to say, meeting with success. From the list we have seen, nearly one-third of the sum necessary to cover the expenses has been subscribed. This is doing exceedingly well, as some of the committee have only devoted a few hours to the matter as yet.

This celebration of an event which is closely identified with the colonial history of Georgia, one in which two of the heroes of the revolution—Pulaski and Jackson—laid down their lives, will attract to Savannah the largest concourse of our fellow citizens from other parts of the State that have ever assembled in our city, and it is proper that they should be entertained in a manner worthy of the time-honored hospitality of Georgia's oldest city. Let there be a liberal response to the calls of the committee.

LIVER PILLS

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

Talbott's Patent Spark Arrester.

THE INVENTION OF THE AGE.

Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are:

It does not destroy the draft.

It does not interfere with cleaning the tubes.

It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning.

It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.)

It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition.

It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon.

It can be attached to any boiler.

No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as charged for water or horse-power.

Send for illustrated circulars and price list.

Lithia Water.

THE BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS,

MECKLENBURG COUNTY, VIRGINIA.

THE GREAT TONIC AND ALTERATIVE WATERS OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT.

BUFFALO LITHIA SPRING NO. 3.

The most Valuable and Powerful Tonic Waters of Virginia, and, with one exception, the most Valuable Tonic Water of the United States.

ANALYSIS of this Spring, made by Prof. Wm. P. Tonry, of the Maryland Institute, Baltimore, March 17, 1877: Results expressed in grains per imperial gallon, shows it to contain 3,774 grains of the Carbonate of Iron, which is recognized by all medical men as incomparably the most potent and valuable form in which iron can be used as a Tonic. A comparison of this analysis with that of other chalybeate waters of the American Continent shows that the Buffalo Lithia Spring No. 3 contains a larger percentage of CARBONATE OF IRON than any other Mineral Water in Virginia, and, with one exception, a larger percentage than any other Mineral Water in the United States. Between this water and chalybeate waters generally there is one important difference. Chalybeate waters, as a general rule, are ASTRINGENT. The water of Spring No. 3 is APERIENT—rendered so by the Carbonate of Potash.

With this powerful BLOOD TONIC, in conjunction with the famous Buffalo Lithia Springs No. 2 (which contains a larger percentage of the Bi-carbonate of Lithia than any known Mineral Water,) one of the most powerful alterative waters of the world, and to which is attributed by many eminent medical men a peculiar power as "a Nerve Tonic," it would seem to be a self-evident proposition that these Springs offer Inducements to those in search of health, found nowhere else upon the American Continent.

Defiance.

Catch her and hold her if you can,
See, she defies you with her fan,
Shuts, opens and then holds it spread
In threatening guise above your head.
Ah! why did you not start before
She reached the porch and closed the door?
Simpleton! will you never learn
That girls and time will not return?
Of each you should have made the most;
Once gone, they are forever lost.
In vain your knuckles knock your brow;
In vain will you remember how,
Like a slim brook, the gamesome maid
Sparkled and ran into the shade.
—WALTER SAVAGE LANDOR.

It is when a woman tries to whistle that the great glory of her mouth is seen without being very much heard.

Terrible effect of the admission of women to the medical school: A conversation of the future—Hollis Holworthy (meeting Esculapia Sawbones, who has just entered the medical school)—How do you do, Miss Sawbones? Miss Sawbones—Oh, pretty well, thank you. There is a trifling irritation of the muscular fibers of the anterior surface of the soft palate in the region of the anterior pillar of the fauces, a slight contraction of the inferior constrictor and the stylo and palato-pharyngeal muscles, and a little enlargement of the mucous follicles of the amygdalæ, but otherwise—(Poor Hollis was only prevented from rushing for the nearest doctor by Miss Sawbones somewhat scornfully assuring him that she had only a slight sore throat.)—Harvard Lampoon.

They had been preparing for the excursion for about two weeks. The day at last dawned, and, as the boat was to start early, the young wife determined to be on hand. The clock struck 8, and still she was in the kitchen, her hair down her back, packing edibles in her basket.

"Hurry up!" said John, her young husband.

"I'll be ready presently," and away she darted to blacken her shoes and put on a clean collar. The she stuck her head out the back window to ask her next-dor neighbor to lend her a breastpin.

"Hurry up, John!" said she. "You bring the basket. Now I'm all ready and am going down to the boat. And say, John, don't forget a box of sardines you'll find in the closet, and bring the pickles and tongues, and be sure and bring a big knife. Do you hear me, John!.'

John reeled into the kitchen and began his work. He was interrupted by his wife's voice from below yelling:

"John, there's a can of strawberries in the ice-box; don't forget them. Now hurry,—we'll be fearful late; and say, bring one or two more handkerchiefs and a sun umbrella—or, I don't know, it looks like rain, bring my waterproof. O you old poke! you're going to stay there all day. Now run back and close those back shutters, and put the cat in the kitchen, and leave a pan of milk for her; and say, just step round to the butcher's and tell him we won't need any meat to-day; and leave the key of the cellar under the parlor door-mat. Now hurry, John. I'm off. And don't forget anything, or I'll go wild!"

He didn't forget anything; but when he reached the wharf he found the boat had been gone two hours.—New York Express.

Medical.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the Cuticura Remedies, are more wonderful than any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

Cuticura Resolvent, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged. Cuticura, The Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growth which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors, speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus Internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

Salt Rheum for 30 Years

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen, I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good physicians, all of which did me no good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of Cuticura. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases. Yours truly,

B. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The Cuticura Soap should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing Results from the use of Cuticura.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen.—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your Cuticura remedies The county had employed all of our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the Cuticura and immediately began getting better. He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during this time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales come off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not think he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least.

Yours truly,
DUNNING BROTHERS,
Druggists and Booksellers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1879.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this Cuticura will permanently cure this very severe case of leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of Cuticura, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one half times the quantity of small, $1. Resolvent, $1 per bottle. Cuticura Soap, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; 3 cakes, 75 cents.

A Roaming Woman.

A few days ago a solitary white woman was discovered on the premises of W. C. Stronach, Esq., who lives on the suburbs of the city in a northeasterly direction. The woman, on being discovered, ran into a colored man's house near by and exclaimed in a frightened manner, "They are after me!" they are after me! Oh! please let me hide under your bed." On being refused, she looked and did as if she were terribly frightened. Finally she became somewhat calmer, and began to inquire the way to Oxford, and ask for something to eat. She was kindly treated by the colored people and fed at her request. After eating her meal, to which she did full justice, she requeted the loan of a blanket to sleep upon out of doors; this was refused her and she went away and nothing more was heard from her until day before yesterday, when she was again seen on Mr. Stronach's premises by some children eating grass. All attempts to induce her to unseal her lips, were in vain. She is still at large and uncared for. The reporter on hearing the case endeavored to ascertain who the woman was, and after giving a description of her to several gentlemen, found that in all respects the description given to him answered to the person of Mrs. Backes, wife of a tailor in this city.

A nut for the Citizens to Crack.

Correspondence of the News.

Your correspondent, in his solitary strolls around the city, has often noticed the singular and amusing fact that the geese (as well as the cows and calves) are allowed to roam unmolested through our streets. He has often been asked—why? Being unable to furnish his questioners with a satisfactory answer in regard to the matter he submits the question to the public. Tell us why? Are the geese in this city held in sacredness? Have they, like ancient Rome, saved us from some direful calamity, or, is it for the strains of their delightful music, which they pour fourth unceasingly as they waddle up and down our principal thoroughfares? The merry cackle of their voices may be heard in every nook and corner of the city, and if they once succeed in gaining entrance to some well cultivated flower garden; such destruction as the Goths and Vandals never dreamed of ensues. The question is again repeated. Are they allowed to roam promiscuously through our streets, as an ornament to our city? or, is it that backwardness of our citizens to depart entirely from country life? We are anxious to learn, will some kind citizen favor us with the desired information?

The Cotton Caterpillar.

Sumpter Republican.

The gravest apprehensions are entertained by some of our planters concerning this much dreaded pest. As yet no authentic reports of their appearance have been made. It was rumored they had made their appearance on one of the Whitsett plantations; we visited this place on Tuesday, and after a most careful investigation pronounce it false. Indeed we do not believe they will come at all this year. The writer last winter helped Prof. Willet, of the Etomological Commission, in his investigation of this subject. Premiums were offered the negroes to search for caterpillar chrysalids, supposed to be hibernating in the ground; quite a number were found and sent to Professor Riley, in Washington City, who hatched them out and pronounced them not to be cotton caterpillars, but moths of other worms—not a single cotton moth was found. If they do come, it must be from a region now unknown to the commissioner.

Astonishment on Both Sides.

New York Sun, 5th.

Mary Jane Perry, who is employed in a cotton mill, is a sprightly young woman and is the main support of her parents. They reside in a comfortable little home in Hohokus, N. J. Miss Perry recently determined to surprise her parents by being wedded without their knowledge. Mr. John Meyers, of Westwood, was the bridegroom, and the marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Opdyke of the Hoboken Methodist Church on Tuesday evening last. Then the bride presented her husband in her home. The surprise was complete, but the result was equally unexpected. The bride's father fell upon the groom and clubbed him while the mother, it is alleged, attempted to assault the bride.

Meyers bore it as long as he thought it discreet to do so, and then hurried out without even bidding his bride good-by. He has not been seen since and the bride avers that she will not longer help to support her parents if she is to be deprived of the company of her husband. It is said that no other violence will be offered the bridegroom if he will return.

Sensible, all Around.

New York Sun, 5th.

Mr. Thompson is a colored citizen of Louisiana. The other night two white men stole his horse. Instead of sitting down under his loss, or writing to a Republican Congressman, or emigrating to Kansas, Mr. Thompson got some of his colored neighbors together, trailed the thieves, ambushed them, shot one of them dead, and got back his horse. When he and his neighbors were arrested for the killing, the Judge, a white Democrat, promptly discharged them. And all this happened in Louisiana;

It is not birth, rank, nor state,
But git up and git, and

Durham Bull Tobacco,
That make men great.

The Money of Our Grandfathers.

Messrs. Scott & Company, 146 Fulton street, New York city; are now buying the curious old Colonial and Continental money issued during the Revolution. Persons holding only should write them for liberal offer.

The location of the "St. Nicholas" hotel in New York makes it by all means the most desirable place to stop for the commercial or business visitor. It has perpetuated the traditions of the past in the amirable style of management, and the pride of New Yorkers in this noble establishment need not be less than when it was the subject of a furore twenty years ago Cuisiniere, apartments, careful attention, facility of access to all parts of the house, and handsome furniture, make it all that could be wished.

BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879.—The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, Esq., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir: Observing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even temporary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully,

WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me. The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she continued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for various other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WADDILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News.

Miscellaneous.

FOR

Chills, Shakes, FEVER AND AGUE.

TARBORO, N. C., 1878.

DR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir,—I feel very grateful for what your valuable medicine, Vegetine, has done in my family. I wish to express my thanks by informing you of the wonderful cure of my son; also, to let you know that Vegetine is the best medicine I ever saw for Chills, Shakes, Fever and Ague. My son was sick with measles in 1873, which left him with Hip-joint disease. My son suffered a great deal of pain, all of the time; the pain was so great he did nothing but cry. The doctors did not help him a particle, he could not lift his foot from the floor, he could not move without crutches. I read your advertisement in the "Louisville Courier-Journal," that Vegetine was a great Blood Purifier and Blood Food. I tried one bottle, which was a great benefit. He kept on with the medicine, gradually gaining. He has taken eighteen bottles in all, and he is completely restored to health, walks without crutches or cane. He is twenty years of age. I have a younger son, fifteen years of age, who is subject to chills. Whenever he feels one coming on, he comes in, takes a dose of Vegetine and that is the last of the Chills. Vegetine leaves no bad effect upon the system like most of the medicines recommended for Chills. I cheerfully recommend Vegetine for such complaints. I think it is the greatest medicine in the world.

Respectfully, MRS. J. W. LLOYD.

VEGETINE.—When the blood becomes lifeless and stagnant, either from change of weather or of climate, want of exercise, irregular diet, or from any other cause, the VEGETINE will renew the blood, carry off the putrid humors, cleanse the stomach, regulate the bowels, and impart a tone of vigor to the whole body.

VEGETINE FOR DYSPEPSIA, NERVOUSNESS And General Debility.

BERNARDSTON, Mass., 1878.

We, the undersigned, having used Vegetine, take pleasure in recommending it to all those troubled with Humors of any kind, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, or General Debility, it being the Great Blood Purifier. Sold by R. L. Crowell & Sons, who sell more of it than all other patent medicine put together.

MRS. L. F. PERKINS,
MRS. H. W. SCOTT,
JOSEPHUS SLATE.

VEGETINE is the great health restorer—composed exclusively of barks, roots, and herbs. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it.

VEGETINE FOR NERVOUS HEADACHE And Rheumatism.

CINCINNATI, O., April 9, 1877

H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.:

DEAR SIR,—I have used your Vegetine for Nervous Headache, and also for Rheumatism, and have found entire relief from both, and take great pleasure in recommending it to all who may be likewise afflicted.

FRED. A. GOOD.
108 Mill St., Cinn.

VEGETINE has restored thousands to health who had been long and painful sufferers.

VEGETINE Druggists' Testimony.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

DEAR SIR,—We have been selling your remedy, the Vegetine, for about three years, and take pleasure in recommending it to our customers, and in no instance where a blood purifier would reach the case, has it ever failed to effect a cure, to our knowledge. It certainly is the ne plus ultra of renovators.

Respectfully,
E. M. SHEPHERD & CO., Druggists, Mt. Vernon, Ill.

Is acknowledged by all classes of people to be the best and most reliable blood purifier in the world.
